Index to Buffalo's Delaware Avenue: Mansions and Families
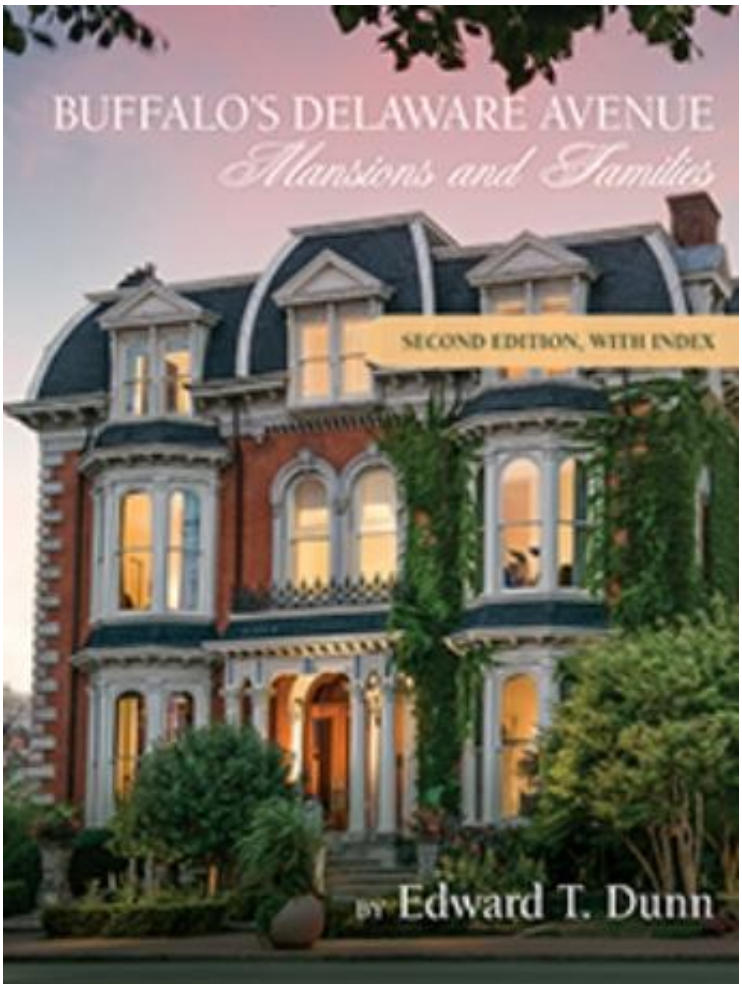
F129 .B86 D4 2003



Compiled by Amy Miller, Assistant Librarian, 2016

Introduction

When Edward Dunn first published his book, Buffalo's Delaware Avenue (2003), it lacked an index. So we compiled one, which appears in the 2nd edition (2017). Here is the index as a separate, stand-alone work, with a few edits (2025).

This index is divided up into four sections: Renumbering, Addresses, Places, and Persons.

The Renumbering section serves as a reference to house numbers in use before the renumbering of Delaware Avenue in 1867.

The Addresses section is arranged in alphabetical order by name of street and indicates which pages have photographs or illustrations of houses and buildings.

The Places section features institutions and estates by name instead of address.

The final section, Persons, is the largest portion of the index and lists individuals alphabetically by last name.

Renumbering and Image Index

Addresses on Delaware Avenue underwent renumbering in 1867/1868. Below is a list of the numbers before the renumbering alongside the new modern numbers. The house numbers are in ascending order based on the post-1867 (modern) numbers. When searching the house index (22-430 modern), be sure to reference both house numbers.

The column for image page indicates what page a photograph, map, plan, drawing, etc. of the house appears in the book. Only addresses with a pre-1867 number change and/or an image are included in this index. For a full listing of all house numbers mentioned in the book, see the house number index (p. 6).
